

MEMORY SUPPORT SERVICE

Providing support to people with dementia and their carer's living in Leicestershire

The Alzheimer's Society operates a range of services across Leicestershire providing support, information and signposting to people with dementia and memory loss and their carer's.

We provide practical information and guidance on living well with dementia to enable you to have a better understanding of the condition and support the development of self-management skills and short-term emotional support. We offer web-based support, written information, a one-to-one support service by telephone and face to face visits as required.

In addition we offer a range of groups to support people across Leicestershire including Memory cafes, Carer Support Groups and Activity Groups for people living with dementia.
